

Healing Touch Integrative Care Program

Healing Touch

Healing Touch is an integrative healthcare method that supports patient-centered care. An evidence-based therapy, it is effective in reducing pain and anxiety with a gentle, non-invasive application. Holistically focused, Healing Touch addresses the physical, emotional, mental and spiritual aspects of the individual. It is a biofield therapy that works to gently restore balance in the patient's energy system to support the body's natural self-healing process. Healing Touch is not massage and is administered with the caregiver's hands gently near, or lightly touching, the patient's body while they are laying down or sitting up.

As a standardized, board-certified and nationally accredited continuing education program, Healing Touch Program offers nurses, physicians and other caregivers training in a professional integrative therapy that is widely used in hospitals, VA Medical Centers and other clinical settings. Based on nursing standards, Healing Touch integrates easily with standard medical care.
